

MAEd One-Year Cohort in Elementary Education for Practicing Teachers

The Department of Elementary Education and Middle Grades Education is seeking 20 of the most outstanding teachers to join us for a unique experience. Earn your Masters degree in only one year in our new cohort program beginning this summer with a focus on Teacher Leadership!

Earn your MAEd in Elementary Education in only one year!

- Beginning Summer 1, 2017 and ending in Summer 2, 2018

There are many advantages to being in a cohort:

- Guaranteed course offerings with a minimum of 20 in the cohort
- Students of similar interests and goals to work with during your program
- A feeling of community as your group and professors work together
- Focused advising...all members of a cohort have the same requirements

What can I do with a Masters in Elementary Education?

- A Masters degree opens many doors for new career opportunities such as:
 - Curriculum specialists with district and/or state education agencies
 - Instructor positions at colleges and universities
 - Curriculum developers for schools and textbook companies
 - Educational consultants
 - Educational policy developers for state, local and/or national governmental agencies

Teacher as Leader

- Cohort will focus on leadership skills/roles and will include exciting courses such as:
 - Leading Curriculum Revision and Implementation
 - Leadership and Communication Skills in Education
 - Collaborating, Teaming, and Leading in the Elementary School
 - Strategic Leadership for 21st Century Skills
